NEAP BOOK CLUB RECOMMENDATION

The Art of Showing Up: How to Be There for Yourself and Your People

by Rachel Wilkerson Miller

The book club recommendation this month is "The Art of Showing Up: How to Be There for Yourself and Your People" by Rachel Wilkerson Miller.

This novel is a comprehensive guide to cultivating deeper, more meaningful relationships with ourselves and those around us. It is a must-read for anyone who wants to learn how to show up for themselves and others in more authentic and intentional ways.

In the context of Pride Month, "The Art of Showing Up" is particularly relevant as it highlights the importance of showing up for marginalized communities. Miller acknowledges that showing up can be difficult and uncomfortable, but encourages readers to lean into discomfort in order to truly be there for others.

Overall, "The Art of Showing Up" is a valuable resource for anyone who wants to deepen their relationships and show up in more meaningful ways.

EMBRACE YOUR SPACE IN LIFE WITH EM LIFE eM Life On- Demand Programs

By practicing mindfulness, we can develop non-judgmental awareness and cultivate kindness towards ourselves. This practice enables us to connect more deeply with our physical, mental, and emotional states.

While we may find it easy to feel compassion towards others, it can be challenging to extend the same level of gentleness, understanding, and empathy towards ourselves.

However, when we prioritize self-compassion and treat ourselves as we would a good friend, we experience numerous benefits for our overall health, happiness, and well-being.
